■ オイスター Tosazu foam with Tobiko foam; quince vinegar with pink grapefruit, Yuzu & cucumber jelly

■ Heirloom 131 Bourke Street Melbourne

最高の食材と料理を提供する野中氏と新しい料理を作り出すヘッドシェフ北原氏が演出するHeirloom。このシーズン、Fine Diningでは欠かすことのできない旬のオイスター。3種類の柑橘系や酢などトッピングで楽しませてくれます。オイスターは産地により独特の甘み、苦味そしてクリーミーさがありますが、新鮮な生で食べるのが一番。Heirloomは最高の形で厳選された生きたままのオイスターを、その場で開けています。

オーストラリアのシーフードの代表格である牡蠣は、主にサウスオーストラリアやタスマニアの冷たい海水を中心に養殖されています。サウスオーストラリアの牡蠣は身が大きく甘みが強いのが特徴。特にCoffin Bay産のものは高級レストランでも重宝されています。タスマニア産のものは殻と身がふっくらと丸みを帯びていて、味はクリーミーで後味が強くないのが特徴です。良い牡蠣の選び方は持った際に重みを感じるか、生きているかということが重要になってきます。

A creation of the vision of Melbourne's award winning chef, the brilliant Master Chef Nonaka, Heirloom, an innovative Japanese infused fine dining experience. The quality of a fine dining establishment can be seen reflected in their quality of oysters, and Heirloom doesn't disappoint. The most beautiful oysters available are garnished delicately with three exotic variations. Being citrus and vinegar based, they provide the perfect arrangement to fully allow one to fully enjoy the creamy, sweet and salty taste of the oyster. Live oysters are supplied by Oceania Seafoods daily, then shucked per order. Heirloom maintains quality by providing the most seasonal oysters available.

A mainstay of Australian seafood, the oyster, is farmed in South Australia and Tasmania with their cold and clean sea water proving ideal farming conditions. The meat of South Australian oysters tend to be bigger and fatter with a strong rich flavour. Tasmanian oysters are largely smaller than those from South Australia. The meat and shell are more rounded and the taste is very creamy, with a pleasant, clean aftertaste. Key freshness/ quality characteristics include the weight of oyster (heavier is better, for it denotes a larger meat) when you hold it by hand and that they are alive.
